

Near Me: Group Calls – Breakout Rooms v.2.0

Breakout rooms allow Service Providers to split Group Consultations into smaller sub-groups if desired. Group Waiting Areas come with three breakout rooms (September 24), ready to be used.

If you do not want a group or individual guests left without the support of a Service Provider, even for a short period, a Service Providers should enter the breakout room before any guests.

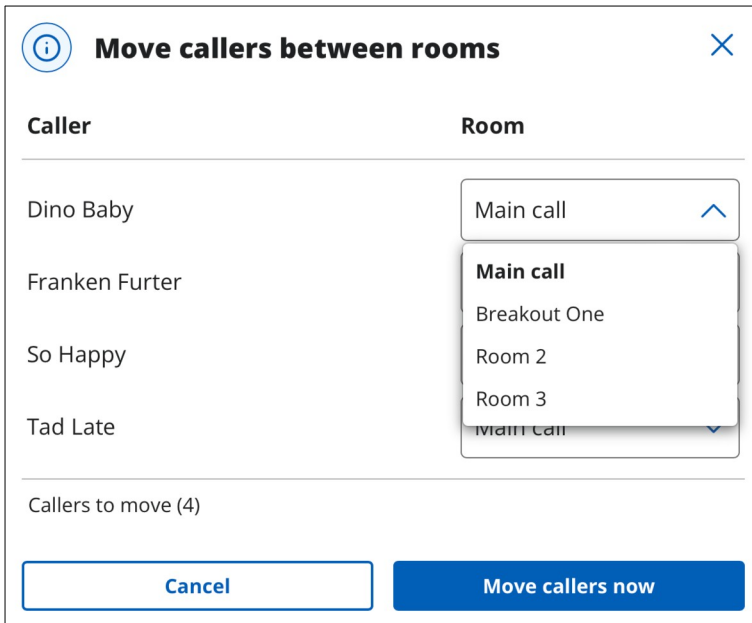

Your breakout rooms are part of the People side bar. If that's closed you can access it through either the People button or directly through the Rooms button, accessible through the More button.

Should you wish, you can rename the rooms. That can be done before admitting any of your callers or at any other time throughout the call.

When moved to a breakout room, your caller will receive a pop-up giving it's name.

To rename a room, choose rename from the button to the right of the room's name.

When you want to move callers from the main call to a breakout room, use the Move caller between rooms button.

You'll be presented by a list of callers and any other service provider, allowing you to choose their breakout room from a drop-down menu.

Once allocated, click Move callers now.

There are simple Join and Leave buttons for yourself.

A list of a breakout room's participants is seen by clicking the arrow next to its name.

To return all in a breakout room to the main call, choose the Clear this room button from the room's 'three-dot' menu.

Chat from the main group is not seen within breakout rooms. Chat created within breakout rooms is not seen elsewhere.
